BIOGRAPHY

Established in Sonoma County in 2014, Christa Moné Landscapes was founded to create exterior spaces that speak to the land and architecture around us.

Our work focuses on private residences and commercial spaces for relaxation and leisure.

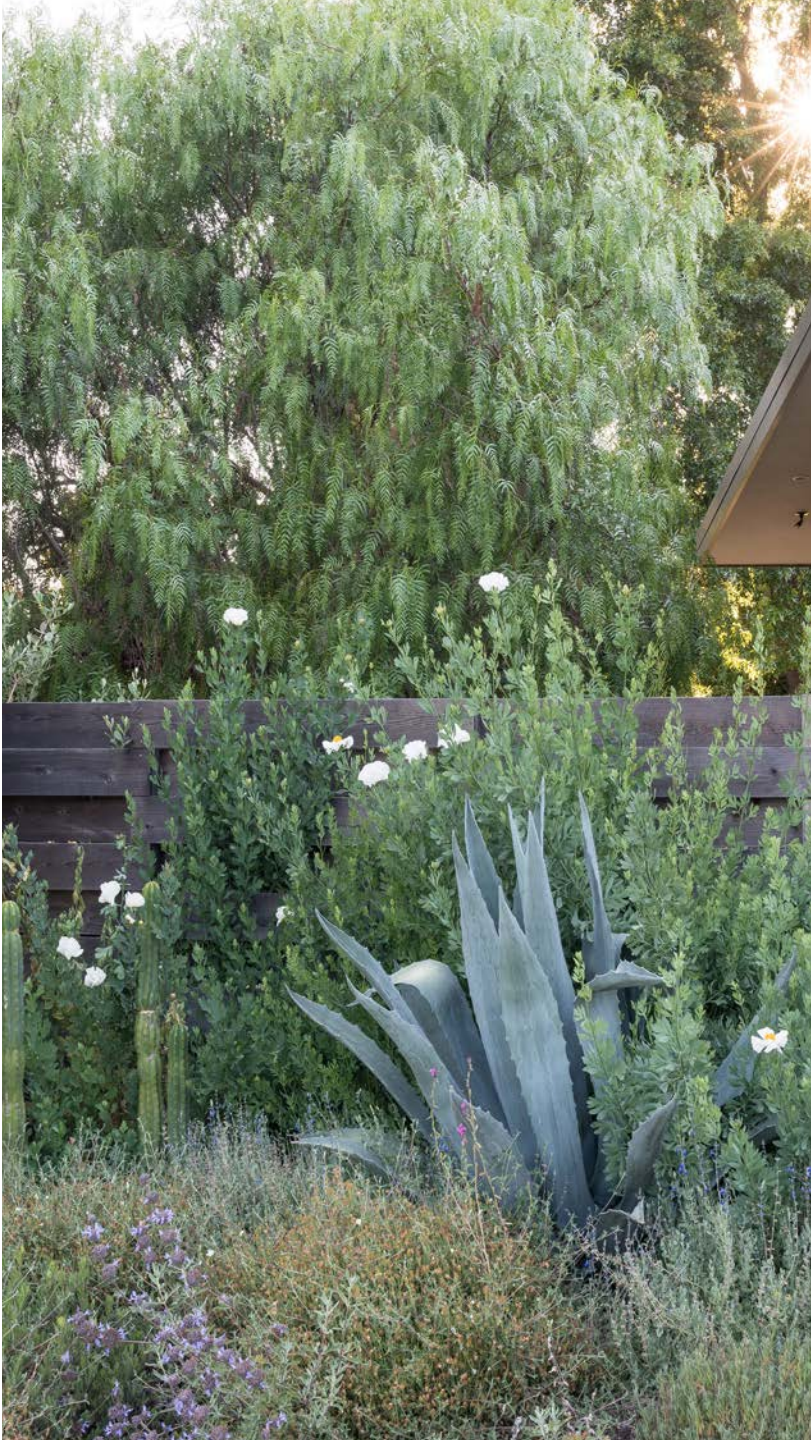

Tailored to meet the needs of your project's vision, we collaborate with the best talent in any given field to create a cohesive picture through thoughtful design.

We have an ever-expanding library of materials, plant palettes, and working examples of landscapes to share with our clients.

Christa Moné's design is influenced by the history of stone and wood, timeless architecture, and the human experience.

The pillars of her work are simple and steadfast:

- Design a landscape that will co-exist seamlessly with the architecture and greater environment around it.
- Create spaces that age well using simple elements people have craved in their relationships with nature throughout the centuries.
- Ensure success of the landscape by choosing materials and plants that will thrive and uphold a project's vision long into the future.

Client exploration, material research, and creative invention drive our design approach.

We consider how to weave the indoor spaces with the outdoor fabric of the site, so there is an intentional yet ethereal transition between interior and exterior rooms.

Not constrained by any particular movement or design genre, we work freely with diverse architectural styles to create timeless beauty.

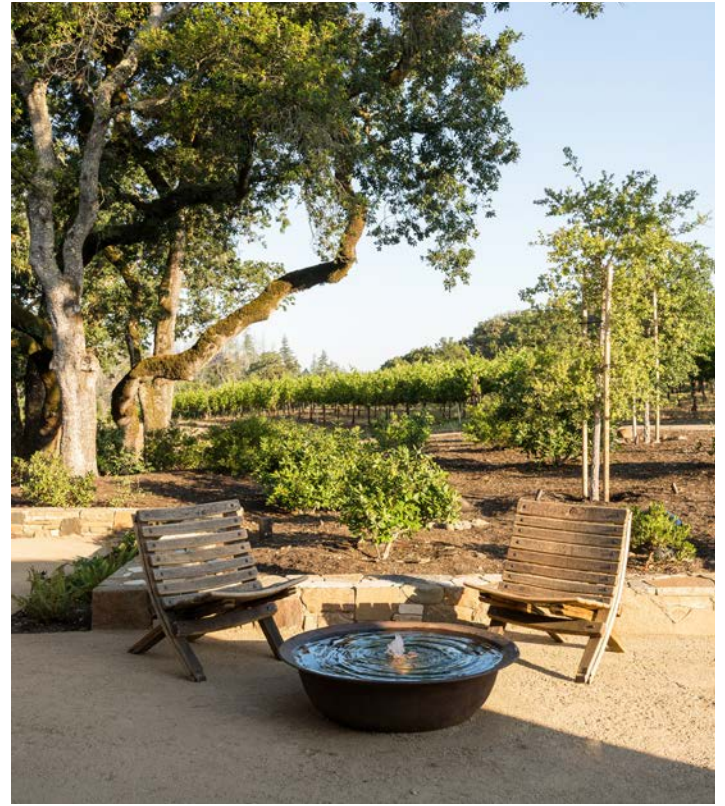

Christa Moné was raised in Southern California before moving to the south of France to study the art of gardening.

After university, she began a career in estate management, overseeing luxury properties with extraordinary landscapes.

Since 2009 Christa has dedicated herself to high-end landscape and exterior design. Her passions include reviving the tradition of drystone walling, custom design conservatories, and showpiece cut-flower gardens.
